Dear WBSD Community,

Frustration with the reliability of our current telephone notification system has led us to pursue other, more efficient means of communication, especially when it comes to urgent information.

I am pleased to inform you that the Woodhaven-Brownstown School District is one of the first school districts in the state to utilize the Nixle notification system for timely and up-to-date sharing of emergency information. This is the same text messaging system that the City of Woodhaven uses to communicate alerts to its citizens.

To opt-in for school district notifications, simply text WBSD to 888777. We will primarily use this system as a means of notification for school closings and safety information. First notification of school closings, especially snow days, will be issued by text message via the Nixle notification system.

Additionally, we have begun the transition to a more reliable telephone notification system. This will take a few weeks; however, there is nothing that you will need to do. Once in place, the new system will synchronize with our current student database. It is our expectation that this new system will eliminate the issues some have experienced with dropped messages, repeated phone calls, and delayed message delivery.

Wishing everyone in the WBSD community a Happy, and Safe, New Year.

Sincerely,

Mark Greathead
Superintendent
